

Request for Remuneration
 Student Conference Expense Fund
 Science & Technology Studies Graduate Program

Each year, the STS graduate program distributes a small amount of funds to help defray the costs of students attending or participating in scholarly conferences related to their graduate work at York. This is intended as a fund of last resort: applicants are expected to apply to other relevant agencies (FGS, the GSA, etc.) in addition to submitting an application to STS. Equally, the STS Student Conference Expense Fund will offer some remuneration to students who would otherwise be ineligible for support; in particular, those who attend, but do not present, at a scholarly conference.

All funding is retroactive, and applications will be considered by our Scholarships Committee twice over the course of the academic year. Applicants must complete all sections of the form and justify their requests with copies of relevant receipts (for costs of travel, accommodation, board or conference fees). Be sure to maintain a copy of the application for your records.
